Coordinates: 38 degrees 5.956' North latitude and 75 degrees 45.065' West longitude.

Located near the home of A. Sudler and John Waters on the 1877 Atlas of the Eastern shore.

This cemetery is located in the community known as Manokin and on the south side of a creek issuing out of the North side of the Big Annemessex River. The creek has been known by several names over the years. In 1877 it is shown as Sudler's Creek, but the patent maps of Harry Benson refer to the Creek as Sewancy Creek. Today this farm is known as the Cottage Hall Farm, and last occupied by the Maddux Family. The land was first patented by John Roach (Rhodes) on the 3rd of April in the year of 1667 for 200 acres. By the time of the Revolutionary War most of the tract was in the hands of Thomas Seon Sudler. Extensive searching on this tract produced only one small tombstone of a sibling child of Albert & Alice Sudler. Just to the south of the marker we found evidence of two adult burials without tombstones. These graves were brick over burials, which were common in the late 1800's. It is possible that these burials could be Albert and Alice Sudler, but no information could be found to prove the fact. This burial site is in a wooded area behind a tenement house located 700 feet ENE (60 degrees true) from the main Farmhouse. The Cottage Hall Farm is an interesting place with many out buildings, barns, summer kitchen, dairy, outhouse, corn crib and several other specialty buildings.
